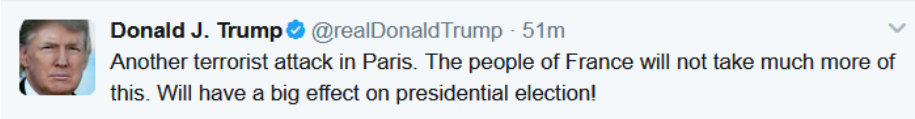
HALF-FULL REPORT 04/21/17

There's a presidential prediction this morning we should hope comes true:



No candidate was mentioned as everyone knows who he's talking about – that Sunday (4/23), the French will swing big time for Marine Le Pen.

So ISIS has one of its agents, Karim Cheurfi – nom de guerre Yousef al-Belgiki, Joe the Belgian – gun down a policeman in cold blood with an AK right on the Champs Elysées 60 hours before the election.

Looks like ISIS wants Marine Le Pen to win too.

As you may know, Sunday is a four-way contest between a Commie (Mélenchon), a jellyfish (Macron), an embezzler (Fillon), and Le Pen. The top two face each other in the runoff on May 7. If Trump is right and the French really have the spine to not take any more Islamic criminal insanity, they'll choose the one and only candidate who will administer the antidote to what's poisoning France.

Why should ISIS want this? Because it's now or never. Of France's 66 million, 10% are Moslems. A President Le Pen declaring war on them, ISIS figures, will radicalize millions of them, tearing France apart. If the French wimp out and reject Le Pen, then ISIS figures it will accelerate their on-going submission to the Moslems in their midst.

Either way results in the ultimate Islamization of France.

So I'm for Le Pen. I want to see the French fight for their country, their culture, their civilization – go down swinging if necessary rather than throw it all away to live their lives on their knees licking Moslem boots. Do they have it in them? I have deep doubts. We'll find out soon.

Meanwhile, in this context Norwegian writer Onar Åm has some sage advice for us this week (4/20): The Greatest Threat to America Isn't Islam – It's the Left. It's a must-read, for he's absolutely right.

Which means the New York Post is wrong when it opined yesterday (4/20) that If US Campuses Can't Protect Free Speech They Need New Management.

What's needed is to abolish the Department of Education and all federal funding of universities.

What's needed is an appropriate answer to auto-racist college clowns like this: Students vote to give blacks free tuition at Western Kentucky University.

That answer would be: TANSTAAFL. There Ain't No Such Thing As A Free Lunch. Make the students pay for the "free" black tuitions themselves out of their personal pockets – no OPM, Other People's Money.

What's needed is National Guard protection for conservative speakers on college campuses. If a Governor Moonbeam refuses to do so, President Trump should federalize that state's National Guard as President Eisenhower did in 1957 to protect black students attending Central High School in Little Rock, Arkansas.

That, in fact, is what Trump should tell Jerry Brown he'll do regarding Ann Coulter's upcoming speech at Berkeley. The same applies in Massachusetts regarding the campus fascisti at Wellesley College threatening anyone with whom they disagree with physical violence.

Oh, what's also needed is to duct tape Howard Dean's mouth shut.

Ever hear of a fellow named Kyle Chapman? His nickname is Based Stickman. He was peacefully walking around the Berkeley campus carrying an American flag last week (4/11) when he was surrounded by several student fascist thugs. Here's what happened:

On Saturday (4/15) at Berkeley, Trump supporters had a permit for a rally. The "Antifa" black-garbed and masked thugs proceeded to attack them, beating and stomping them:

One of them – now identified as a philosophy teacher at Diablo Valley College, Eric Clanton – hiding behind a girl, smashed Trump supporter Sean Stiles skull open with a bike lock. Stiles is pressing charges against Clanton – who needs to go to jail. You could email or call Diablo College president Ted Weiden to demand Clanton's firing or suspension: tweiden@dvc.edu – 925-969-2001.

The result, however, was the Antifas got beat up and chased down the street. The police just watched and did nothing.

Finally we're fighting back.. The only thing Antifa thugs and the fascists of the left understand is superior force and the willingness to use it. It would be much better if that were administered by Trump using the National Guard like Ike.

[Note: Should have gotten the HFR out earlier – just minutes ago, Joel Pollak at Breitbart beat me to it advocating Trump use the NG like Ike. I know folks at the White House read both the HFR and Breitbart, so maybe two is better than one!]

Speaking of California. On Sunday (4/16), the LA Times figured out what the HFR explained last December: that the "Calexit" move for the state to secede from the US and be its own country is DOA. Break away from the USA? The effort to cleave California faces its own split. Exactly. See sixcalifornias.com. Here's what that would look like:

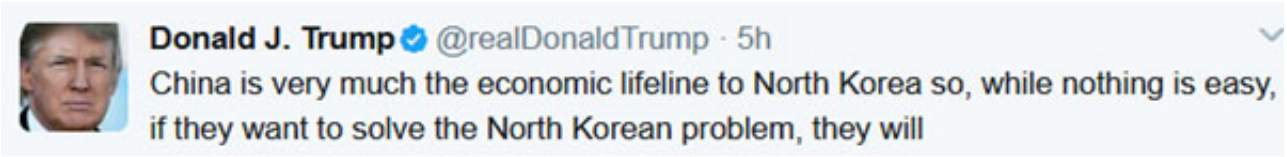
On the foreign policy front, there's more good news than bad.

*In Norks, Chicoms, and Trump on Wednesday (4/19), we discussed the carrot and stick approach 45 is using to persuade Xi Jinping to get rid of the Kim regime for us. The stick is working for both Xi and Putin as per this Thursday headline:

Putin sends troops to Russia's border with North Korea after China also sends soldiers to its boundary over fears Trump will attack Kim Jong-un, sparking a tidal wave of refugees

Then there are these carrot tweets:



*Go T-Rex! Headline yesterday (4/20): Iran Nuclear Deal Has 'Failed' Says Tillerson – Secretary of State Reads Death Warrant for Treaty with Iran.

*This is very smart. Yesterday: Mike Pence praises Indonesia's moderate Islamic culture saying it should inspire other Muslim countries to tame jihadism. It is true – save for fundie pockets like in Aceh (the far western tip of Sumatra), the Islamic culture of Indonesia is predominantly Sufi, the peaceful-mystic version.

After all, millions of Indonesian Moslems drink beer – Bintang Beer – "The Drink of Champions" – is the favorite. And there are popular pork restaurants.

*This, however, is not very smart. Monday (4/17): Trump Congratulates Erdogan on Turkey Vote Cementing His Rule. It's tragic that the President is getting such bad advice to do such a thing.

Erdogan "won" with 51.4% of the vote. It was rigged of course. What is "cemented" is an Islamic dictatorship that's inside NATO. It has to be kicked out. This is, as the IBD says accurately, an Obituary for Turkish Democracy.

Compounding the nightmare, Erdogan announced today (4/21) he plans to go on a world victory tour seeing various leaders including Trump. For Trump to honor him in the White House would be an immoral travesty. Note, however, this has not yet been confirmed by the White House.

By the way, that like all megalomaniacal dictators, he's built himself a ridiculously ostentatious palace while vast numbers of Turks live in utter Third World poverty. Erdogan's Ak Saray or White Palace cost $500 million, has 1,100 rooms, and is 30 times the size of the White House.

President Trump needs someone else to advise him on Turkey – and fast – for now the likelihood of a Turkish civil war has grown exponentially. There are 20 to 25 million Kurds in Turkey – fully one-third of the entire population – occupying a third of the entire country. Erdogan has a Nazi-like hatred of them, will wage war upon them, they will explode and fight back ferociously.

The only solution, the only way to prevent this, is to put whatever pressure is necessary to get rid of Erdogan's rule. Very quickly.

On the domestic front, we have this good news.

*In February, you read How Trump Can Make Barry Goldwater's Dream Come True. Sure enough, we learned this week (4/15) that Trump's Use of the CRA Is A Legislative Milestone.

*Wisconsin Governor Scott Walker wasted no time following Richard Rahn's advice for The Free Market Incentive Solution to Government Problems (4/18). Within hours, Scott Walker Deals Blow to Big Labor in Wisconsin.

*How cool is this? On Tuesday (4/18), Homeland Security John Kelly Tells Congress to "Shut Up" About His Immigration Enforcement. Go, General Kelly!

*At last, a return to sanity. Justice Department Quits Pro-Transgender Lawsuit.

*All in all, not bad. Trump's First Hundred Days – Much Better Than You Think.

We close with our HFR Hero of the Week. He's Marine Staff Sgt. Jose Luis Sanchez – who lost a leg to an IED in Afghanistan in 2011.

On Monday (4/17), he ran the entire Boston Marathon on his prosthetic leg – while proudly carrying a big American flag all the way. Be sure and watch the video in the link. With men like Sgt. Sanchez, we should never doubt the future of America.
