Elon's original post of the Flag of St. George – the national Flag of England – received 82 million views. Adopted by Richard the Lionheart as the symbol of the Christian Crusades to recapture the Holy Land of Jesus from its seizure by Islamic invaders, it has been the flag of England since 1190.

Why did Elon post it? Here's Fox explaining (8/23): England Flag Displays Powerful Symbol In Immigration Fight As Trump-Style Populism Sweeps Through UK.

TTP has been reporting this since last January in HFR 01/03/25:

> "England is confronting an Islamic barbarism that is unimaginable in horror and scope. Infamous "Grooming Gangs" throughout England, composed of immigrant Moslem and mostly Pakistani men who delight in gang raping young British girls. And getting away with it in the tens and tens of thousands for decades."

Elon is leading the loathing of this:

> True https://t.co/n6S44sfzBO
>
> — Elon Musk (@elonmusk) January 3, 2025

But notice that Fox News story above avoids ever mentioning the Englishman responsible for the "Operation Raise the Colours" display of the Flag of St. George all over England now, just the phony guy trying to claim credit, Nigel Farage.

The real guy, who is a hero to Elon, the hero to all English patriot today: Tommy Robinson: Enemy of the State. (The link is to his book; the Wikipedia entry is biased to the point of derangement.)

Elon posted this on Tuesday (8/26). On September 13, Tommy will lead a Free Speech Festival in central London. Between a half to full million British patriots may be there, demanding an end to mass Moslem immigration and their remigration back to their own countries. Watch Tommy's invitation to attend. Don't be surprised if Elon is one of the speakers.

What's going on here? Elon reposts this by Utah Senator Mike Lee. It's because of this video clip on Monday (8/25):

> BREAKING - Police have arrested and charged a 14-year-old girl after she was forced to brandish a knife to defend herself and her friend against a migrant who attempted to assault her near St Ann's Lane in Dundee, Scotland. pic.twitter.com/odBjzIZugA

At the 15 second mark, the little girl shows she is so aware of Moslem immigrant men raping little girls like her, and so determined to defend herself against them, she pulls out a knife and axe ready to fight:

To say this screenshot has gone viral is the understatement of the year. That she was arrested and not the Moslem immigrant harassing her is the last straw for millions in Britain.

August 25, 2025 Evening Telegraph 7

Girl on 'bladed weapon' charge

A 14-YEAR-OLD girl has been charged after allegedly being caught with a "bladed weapon" in Dundee.

Police were called to St Ann Lane, just off Coupar Angus Road in Lochee, shortly after 7.30pm on Saturday.

It followed reports of a girl having a bladed weapon.

Several police cars were sent to the scene, at the Balgay Street car park, following the report.

A Police Scotland spokesperson told the Evening Telegraph: "Around 7.40pm on Saturday, we received a report of a female youth with a bladed weapon in St Ann Lane, Dundee.

"Officers attended and a 14-year-old girl was charged in connection.

"She will be reported to the relevant authorities."

Cops rushed to St Ann Lane, Lochee.

Note not a word or hint of why she had a weapon. You know the expression, "You can't hate the MSM enough."

The photo has spawned an amazing plethora of memes. Sen. Lee's above is just one. This is one TTPer Mike Ryan sent me:

Her name is Maylah Sommers, the link on X pouring out memes, praise for her courage, denunciation for police and a government that refuses to protect her, in the hope that she will be the catalyst to rid Scotland, rid England, rid all of Britain from the Black Plague of Woke Government.

And that is why Elon supports Tommy Robinson, why Mike Lee is inspired by Maylah. Every normal person in America is 100% sick and tired of Dem Woketards being pro-crime, pro-illegal immigrant, pro-trans, pro-open borders, pro-homeless, anti-truth, anti-moral decency, anti-Christian, anti-Trump, and anti-America.

They all see that what has happened to Britain was happening to America under Obama and Biden, and would have happened on steroids had Kamala been able to cheat her way into the White House like Biden in 2020.

And now these America-hating woketards are frantically, hysterically, doing everything they can to stymie every effort of our President to get rid of all the garbage they have soiled our country with.

What we can celebrate is that they are failing, that Trump is winning and with him so is America.

Now as we root for him to do so, we look across the Pond to America's Mother Country (90+% of the 56 signers of the Declaration of Independence were of British ancestry) and root for it as well.

The NY Post cover story sums it up: DC Is Murder-Free Thanks To Trump — But His Haters Won't Accept Reality.

> "Leftists may resist the truth, but it's simple: When you raise the risks of committing crime, crime falls.
>
> Critics like DC Attorney General Brian Schwalb called Trump's enforcement takeover "unnecessary," while Chicago Mayor Brandon Johnson predicted it would "inflame tensions" and increase crime.

Summing it also, as becoming his norm, is national treasure Stephen Miller last night with Fox's Laura Ingraham. Wow…

That Moslem Communist running for Mayor of New York just got renamed. He's now known as Zohan Mamscrawny. NYPost: Zohran Mamdani Fails At Bench Press While Trying To Show-Off At Men's Day In Brooklyn — As Cuomo, Adams Roast Rival.

Girlie-man Zohan couldn't bench press a measly 135lbs even once, a spotter had to lift it for him. Current mayor and rival Eric Adams, at age 64 vs. Zohan's 33, easily benched it multiple times with the spotter barely touching the bar.

Everyone knows about America’s worst governor because he’s a narcissist publicity hound running a famous state. But runner-up in the worst gov race is hyper-woke, TDS-suffering Massachusetts’ Maura Healey.

Ever hear of her? Likely not as she hasn’t a picogram of Newscum’s ersatz charisma. However, she may have folks from the DOJ and FBI knocking on her door soon because of a man named Jon Fetherston.

Now president of WACA-TV, a Boston-area cable channel, in 2023-24 he was the director of a hotel-turned-migrant shelter in Marlborough, west of Boston. What he has to say about Gov. Healey’s illegal alien shelter program may make you nauseous.

> You gave 100K a month lyft rides for illegals while they stayed at luxury hotels. Here's a former migrant shelter director blowing the whistle on how you wasted 4 billion dollars on illegals while homeless veterans sleep on the street. The Democrat Party is by far the most corrupt and criminally thieving organization in America. Maura Healey exemplifies it. Recently, Fetherston has written directly to AG Bondi requesting a DOJ/FBI of “Migrant Shelter Crimes and State Negligence in Massachusetts.”

On Wednesday morning (8/27), readers of the Wall Street Journal woke up to this: ICE Has Fined Immigrants $6 Billion. Now It's Coming to Collect. Sure got my attention.

> "Homeland Security tells people who ignored deportation orders to leave the U.S. or expect debt collectors, lawsuits and big tax bills.
>
> The Trump administration has issued $6.1 billion in fines to immigrants it says have ignored deportation orders. Now it is moving to collect those penalties.
>
> In recent weeks, the government has threatened immigrants with lawsuits, debt collectors and ruinous tax bills if they don't pay financial penalties. If the recipient self-deports, Homeland Security says the fine will be waived and they will receive a $1,000 'exit bonus.'
>
> With some immigrants overstaying by decades and penalties of as much as $998 a day, the fines routinely levied retroactively for five years amount to $1,820,352.
>
> 'These fines are targeted toward illegal aliens who ignore removal orders and do not honor voluntary departure agreements,' Homeland Security spokeswoman Tricia McLaughlin said.
>
> Immigrants have received past-due notices warning they could also be subjected to hefty interest fees, late payment penalties and administrative charges worth hundreds of thousands of dollars.
>
> The government has threatened to garnish tax refunds, launch civil litigation, engage private collection agencies, alert credit-rating bureaus and curb federal and state payments owed to the fine recipient.

> A restaurant worker in Brooklyn who was ordered by a judge to leave the U.S. in 1998 received the $1.8 million fine in June, his attorney, Edward Cuccia, said.
> 'You're going to give someone a $2 million fine who works a minimum-wage job?,' Cuccia said. 'Clearly they're not expecting to collect the money, they're just scaring people'."

Well, duh, Cuccia, you don't miss a trick. Of course the whole purpose is to scare people. His client has ignored a legal order to deport for 27 years, no sob stories, please, just get him out of here.

"It's an easy choice: Leave voluntarily and receive [a] $1,000 check, or stay and wait till you are fined $1,000 [a] day, arrested and deported without a possibility to return legally," a senior DHS official tells the Journal. Carrot and stick, tried and true.

From Military.com on Wednesday (8/27): Trump Wants a Department of War. This House GOP Amendment Would Give Him One.

I don't know about you, but I've wanted this since I was a kid. I always thought naming the Pentagon “The Department of Defense” was limp-wrist. You can’t win a football game just by trying to prevent the other team from scoring touchdowns, much less in war in which the purpose is to defeat the enemy, end the threat, to win.

We won World War II and rid the world of Nazi Germany and Tojo Japan. That’s when we still had a Department of War – but in 1947 the Pussycrats changed it to Defense and we haven’t won a war since, like in Korea or Nam. So I’m rooting for a military of warriors trained to win.

Israel does this as you can see above. And now, so does Ukraine…

> BREAKING:

> Ukrainian suicide drones strike 2 Russian oil refineries: one in Samara and one in Krasnodar.

> — Visegrád 24 (@visegrad24) August 28, 2025

Russia’s oil refinery in Samar engulfed in flames and burning uncontrollably right now is just one example. In this month of August alone, Ukraine strike drones have eliminated 17% of Russian oil production.

Ukraine is systematically wiping out Russia’s economy and capability of waging war upon it – by targeting its oil and gas refineries, transport hubs and rail lines, fuel depots, on and on, military targets all. All Putin can do is blow up apartment buildings and kill civilians.

Retired Australian Army General Mick Ryan explains: Smashing Russia's Oil Industry: Ten Strategic Strike Lessons from Ukraine.

And the psyops is working. Russian propagandist Maxim Kalashnikov, very popular on Russian TV, is now freaking out predicting a "collapse of the rear" in Russia in accordance with “Zelensky’s cunning plan.” Here’s his map of what he says a broken-apart Russia will look like:

Pretty unrealistic, though. Finland will take back Karelia from Baltica, and China will gobble up all of the southern half of the Far East.

In any regard, here is TTPer Mike Ryan's brilliant response on the Forum to the Kremlin's claim that Ukraine is an "artificial" country that belongs to Russia:

"The claim that Ukraine is an 'artificial' construct and that NATO engineered this war is both analytically unsound and strategically dangerous. It obscures the real stakes: whether the 21st century will be defined by decentralized, innovative societies or by authoritarian systems of surveillance and control.

Responding to the claim:

1. Ukraine's Legitimacy

Ukraine is not an artificial byproduct of the Soviet collapse. Its cultural and political identity predates Muscovy itself, with Kyiv as the nucleus of Slavic Christianity centuries before Moscow was more than a frontier outpost. In 1991, Ukrainians voted overwhelmingly for independence across linguistic and ethnic divides. That is not NATO manipulation; that is national will.

2. Russia's Strategic Project: Centralization, Not Nationalism

Vladimir Putin's regime should not be mistaken for a conventional nationalist project. It is a centralization project, meaning the consolidation of state, oligarchic, and security apparatus into a vertically integrated system of control. Internally, dissent is silenced, media monopolized, and surveillance intensified. Externally, aggression in Georgia, Crimea, and now Ukraine is less about defending borders than about validating and sustaining this brittle architecture of control.

3. NATO as Consequence, Not Cause

NATO did not cause this conflict. States on Russia's periphery sought NATO membership precisely because they had experienced Russian domination firsthand. The Baltic states, Poland, and now Finland did not require "globalist persuasion," they required only the memory of Soviet tanks. NATO is a consequence of Russian behavior, not its instigator.

4. Putin's Objectives Are Not Limited

The notion that Putin "only wants Donbass" collapses under scrutiny. Russian forces drove on Kyiv in 2022. Russian rhetoric has consistently denied Ukraine's legitimacy as a state. These are not the actions of a leader content with a frozen conflict; they are the markers of a maximalist project, constrained not by preference but by capability.

5. Innovation at Stake

The deeper issue is not territorial. It is civilizational. Ukraine, under existential threat, has displayed remarkable adaptive innovation: distributed command, rapid drone development, and improvisational logistics. It is a case study in resilience and decentralized problem-solving.

Russia, by contrast, has deepened its slide into what might be termed the "China model": centralization, censorship, and militarized surveillance. This model can produce weapons and sustain repression, but it suffocates broad-based innovation.

If Russia prevails, the lesson absorbed globally will be clear: centralization and authoritarian surveillance systems can defeat decentralized, democratic societies. That perception will accelerate authoritarian emulation worldwide, strengthening China's hand and corroding the innovation ecosystems upon which open societies depend.

6. Strategic Implication

The stakes in Ukraine are not simply about borders or spheres of influence. They are about the structural conditions for innovation in the 21st century.

If Russia succeeds, innovation contracts under authoritarian centralization. If Ukraine endures, the principle that decentralized, adaptive societies can resist authoritarian encroachment is reaffirmed and with it, the preconditions for sustained innovation.

Innovation is the only thing that pushes back entropy. We cannot survive without it.

Bottom Line:

A Russian victory would be a blow to the global innovation ecosystem. The struggle in Ukraine is central to whether the century belongs to free, adaptive societies or to authoritarian Eyes that can dominate but not create."

Thanks, Mike…
