THE WAGES OF WHITE GUILT

[This Monday's Archive was originally published in TTP on February 26, 2015. It's timely, as now Elon Musk Declares No More White Guilt (TTP 12/10). Millions now agree. The end of White Guilt will be the salvation of America.]

Mandalay, Burma. This is a country struggling to enter the 21st century after being stuck in the 19th for the last half of the 20th.

One of the results is an Internet that barely functions. I have heard little of what is going on in the US and the world save for headlines, which are so irretrievably awful that I'm glad I'm isolated here or else my head would explode.

I'll keep this short. Everything you are seeing right now with America coming apart at the seams at the hands of this Affirmative Action President has one and only one cause: they are the wages of white guilt.

The one and only reason this evil, contemptible America-hating fascist has not been impeached for treason, the only reason anyone paid any attention to him whatever such that he was accepted to Harvard, made Editor of the Harvard Law Review, allowed to teach a course at Columbia, ran for Illinois State Senator, ran for Illinois US Senator, ran for the Dem presidential nomination, excused for attending a racist church for 20 years that prayed for God to damn America, got elected president, and re-elected president is the color of his skin.

Absolutely none of this whatever would have happened if his skin were white.

The only reason the media licks his boots and never vetted him - not even demanding his college transcripts or examining his life with the slightest professional journalism - is the color of his skin. The media would have laughed at his pretentiousness from the get-go if his skin were white.

The only reason the Republicans wimp out to him at every turn is the color of his skin.

The only reason tens of millions of patriotic decent Americans have not risen in outright rebellion against his fascist lawlessness is the color of his skin.

All of this horror are the wages of white guilt. It is far past time Americans stopped paying them. For Americans to say, "No more guilt." For Americans to stop judging this evil man by the color of his skin, but to take Martin Luther King Jr.s advice and judge him by the content of his character - which is Zero.

The most obvious observation it is possible to make about America today is that its president does not love it. Yet when Rudy Giuliani says the equivalent of the sky is blue, a torrent of vilification and death threats pours down upon him. I of course am overjoyed that he's pointing out what TTP has been saying since 2008.

What TTP has also been saying for years is that the headlines you see chronicling the unceasing on-going ruination of America are going to keep getting worse - until there is mass country-wide civil disobedience against them. Mass civil disobedience against Zero's fascist rules, regulations, and those of his fascist Justice Department.

So there's no use complaining, for words, spouting off in empty sound and fury, are useless and worthless. Only the refusal to obey the edicts of this evil anti-American and his minions have any hope of doing any good.

That's an individual choice. It's the choice our Founding Fathers made, upon which they pledged their wealth, their honor, and their very lives. With that choice, they created our American birthright of freedom which we will throw away unless we choose as they did.

They chose with courage. We must do the same. Either that, or keep paying the wages of white guilt - forever. The demands for payment will never stop - and they will never stop escalating. Think about that last point long and hard.

The fascist demands for more of your freedom and more degradation of our culture will always continue to grow until there is a massive enough rebellion against them to shut them down. Rebel or obey, liberty or death, freedom or slavery. It's come down to that now. We must stop paying the wages of white guilt.
